The church garden delivered 211 pounds of fresh produce to the Community Food Bank this summer. In 18 deliveries we provided beets, collard and mustard greens, swiss chard, tomatoes, eggplant, carrots, chives, dill, basil, peppers, cabbage, tomatillos and butternut squash. The weather was a bit flukey and the rabbits were hungry (good-bye green beans), but overall the Lord provided another bountiful year. Anyone who wishes to help with the garden for next year should see Lee Wolff.

The University Chorus of Stockton is reaching out to the local community to recruit additional voices for their performance of Handel’s Messiah. Another 100 voices will help them reach their goal of a choir made up of 250-300 people.

There is no need for supreme talent or professional training. Training and vocal exercises will enhance anyone’s voice if they are willing to sing with us. Practices are Monday nights at 7pm in the Alton Auditorium (A003). The grand performance will be December 10 at the Borgata. If you have any questions or concerns please contact Layla Polk directly at 856/974-1717.
